III. 阅读理解 (30)

A

Most young boys don't like growing flowers and watering them. But for 16-year-old Angus, working in the garden isn't just a hobby—it has changed his life.

Angus has a special illness and his IQ(智商) is lower than a normal boy. Six months ago, he started learning how to grow flowers. Now he spends hours in the garden growing flowers, watering and looking after them. "Before working in the garden, it was difficult for Angus to concentrate in class and sometimes he didn't want to go to school," says his mother Kim. "Now he can't wait to go to school and he is happy every day. We can see Angus is able to work in a garden center in the future."

Research(研究) shows that working in the garden improves mental health. In the past, soldiers in Egypt treated their mental problems after war by working in the garden. Even now, some doctors advise people to work in the garden to treat their mental health problems. And doctors also advise young people like Angus to work in the garden.

The lives of hundreds of children in Britain with a special illness like Angus, have been changed by this special kind of education. When working in the garden, children have a chance to learn a lot of important skills, such as how to work with other people and how to take care of plants. Besides, the children become more confident after working in the garden.

Dear Kitty,

Good news! We have a new flat! The rooms are small, but they are comfortable. There are more rooms here than in our old flat. This is good because now I have my own room. In the old flat, I share one with my sister.

My bedroom is my favourite room in our flat. I can be alone in it. I can read or draw. I can listen to my radio or play CDs. I can play games on my computer and send e-mails to my friends.

My second favourite room is the kitchen. I love helping my mother cook our meals. She is a very good cook. She teaches me how to make many different kinds of dishes. She lived in Morocco when she was a girl, so she can cook Moroccan food. It's very delicious. That's all for now. Write back soon and tell me about your home. Please get on the Internet so that we can send e-mails to each other.

All good wishes!

Anna

VII. 任务型阅读 (10)

Jack Ma, the chairman(主席) of Alibaba Group, was born on September 10, 1964 in Hangzhou, Zhejiang, China. He is one of the Asia's richest businessmen(商人). He is many people's hero.

Jack Ma is small and thin, but he looks smart. He often smiles to people around, he is kind and friendly, so he has many friends. He studies English well and is good at it. He gets up early in the morning, he likes playing Taiji and jogging best. When Jack Ma is free, he enjoys reading too, he spends more than one hour reading books every day.

He is the founder(创办者) of the world's biggest online shopping mall—Taobao. Taobao means “looking for treasure” in Chinese. People can find almost everything they need on Taobao, from fashionable clothes to cartoon books, from small candy to big cars. People don't have to spend a lot of time going from one shop to another to choose things they like. All you need is just a mobile phone or a computer. The goods(商品) are usually not expensive. It's very safe and easy to shop, so shopping on Taobao is popular among both young and old people. Jack Ma is changing our shopping style.

However, shopping on Taobao also has something bad. First, we can't see or touch the goods we will buy, we can't try on. Sometimes, the real goods may not be the same as we think. Second, we may often wait for a long time to get our goods, we can't use or have them at once.

Luckily, Jack Ma is dreaming to make shopping on Taobao safer and faster for the whole world.
