A Eating your way around the world

Australia: Try a pie floater?

Feeling hungry? No visit to South Australia is complete without trying the local food—a pie floater. They are traditionally sold at roadside food shops, some of which stay open all night. It is a meat pie floating in a thick green pea soup. Finally, the pie is covered with plenty of bright red tomato ketchup(番茄酱). Enjoy!

Vietnam: Soup for breakfast

The food stands in the streets of Ho Chi Minh City, Vietnam, open early in the morning and stay busy till late at night, selling fast food to hungry passers-by. The most famous dish is pho, a noodle soup with slices of beef or chicken and different vegetables. It's usually eaten for breakfast-many Vietnamese people say they cannot start the day without this delicious food!

Belgium: Home of French fries

You can find French fried potatoes all over the world, but as Belgians will tell you, they, not the French, invented this popular street food, back in the 17th century. French fries, eaten from a paper cone are the Belgian's favourite food. The secret of perfect French fries is that they are fried(油炸) twice in hot oil, to give a perfect, golden outside.

Libraries give kids a quiet and safe place to read and learn. For over 100 years, libraries have played an important role in Americans' education. But how are these book-filled buildings changing with the times? You may be surprised to find out.

Benjamin Franklin famously founded (创建) America's first lending library in 1731. But the public library system got its biggest development in the American history in the late 1800's. Businessman Andrew Carnegie donated millions of dollars to help build free public libraries across the country. Between 1886 and 1919, Carnegie's donations helped build 1,679 new libraries.

Carnegie believed that libraries could offer the chances to Americans, young and old. He knew that the more libraries there were, the more people would have opportunities to read and use books, speeches and news.

If you can easily find a public library in your community, you'll get more chances. After all, the United States has 9,225 public libraries. Today, libraries keep growing. Seven tenths of the libraries have free Internet. It provides much more information and opportunities to ask for jobs online.

Libraries are also teaching kids about the fun of reading. The new program Read! Build! Play! adds reading into playtime. As kids listen to a book that is being read aloud, they use Legos (乐高积木) to build images(图像) from the story happily. Today's libraries are always looking for creative programs to bring people into the library.

Benjamin Franklin once said, "The doors of wisdom(智慧) are never shut." As long as, the doors of public libraries are open, what he said is most certainly correct!

54. How many public libraries have free Internet now?

A. 2767. B. 6458. C. 9225. D. 1679.

55. The right order of the following statements is _____.

①The public library system in America developed fast.

②The first lending library was founded.

③ Libraries provide information and chances to ask for job online.

④ Libraries try to bring people into the library by using creative programs.

A. ②①③④ B. ②③④① C. ③④①② D. ①②③④

56. The last paragraph mainly tells us _____.

A. libraries have played an important role in Americans' education

B. public libraries in the US should never close the doors

C. the writer doesn't agree with Benjamin Franklin

D. libraries help people to open the doors of wisdom

57. The best title for the passage is _____.

A. the libraries in the world

B. libraries and opportunities

C. libraries teach kids to read and learn

D. the development of the American libraries

C

Rita was in shopping mall, looking for a gift for her little daughter. Suddenly she stopped before a store, inside which were all kinds of dolls.

"Why not a lovely doll? Girls like dolls," she thought as she stepped into the store.

Looking around, she saw a grandma doll—one with gray and a pair of glasses. As she gazed at it, in her mind somehow appeared Linda, her mother.

When Rita was a little girl, she got her first doll from Linda for her birthday. She was very happy. Then the second, the third....., Rita began to feel puzzled. When she asked her mum the reason, the answer was always "A girl can never have enough dolls." Year after year, Rita grew up and Linda aged, but a doll a year from Linda never arrived late.

"But why always a doll?" This question had been in Rita's mind until one day her father gave the answer.

Little Linda dreamed to have a doll. Her parents promised one for her fifth birthday. Sadly, they both died in a traffic accident before it arrived. The never—received gift was the most precious* in her eyes. That's why she thought dolls were the best birthday gifts for Rita.

Her mother's story being recalled, Rita got an idea.....

It was Linda's sixtieth birthday. The whole family gathered around the sixty-year-old lady when the doorbell rang. Much to Linda's surprise, a package was delivered* to her, with a card read:

Dear Linda,

I forget to send you the package that you should have received on May 20, 1956, your fifth birthday. The gift inside has aged, but I felt that you might still wish to have it. Sorry for the lateness!

Love,

Angel of Joy

Linda opened the package and saw a lovely grandma doll. She clasped the doll that she had waited so many years to receive, tears coursing down her face. The doll, given by "Angel of Joy", made her the happiest "child" alive.

58. Why did Linda think that dolls were the best birthday gifts for Rita?

- A. Rita dreamed to have all kinds of lovely dolls.
- B. Rita looked liked a doll when she was a little girl.
- C. Linda received a lot of lovely dolls form her parents.
- D. Linda had never got the dream doll form her parents

59. What does the underlined word clasped probably mean in the passage?

- A. held B. threw C. made D. bought

60. Which can be the best title of the passage?

- A. The Story of an Angel B. Linda's Birthday
- C. Linda, the Happiest Child D. A Late Birthday Gift

Chris is not a traditional explorer (探险者) - he usually works in an office for a large organization . Yet his job can sometimes be just as exciting and dangerous as being an explorer.

Chris works for MSF, an organization also known as Doctors Without Borders (无国界医生) . MSF sends trained doctors all over the world to help people after a war or a disaster . Chris is a doctor from France who has travelled to many places to organize programmes that help people.

At the moment, there are over 27,000 trained medical staff taking part in MSF projects and tasks . The organization received the Nobel Peace Prize in 1999 . All kinds of doctors can volunteer for MSF . They need to be prepared to go almost anywhere in the world and, of course, they should expect difficult conditions . Doctors with experience in tropical (热带的) diseases are especially useful because most of MSF's work is in Africa . When MSF accepts a doctor for a task, he has to go for at least six months . When doctors have completed a few tasks, they might be sent on an emergency task following a disaster, such as an earthquake.

But why would a doctor leave a comfortable life and a good salary to join MSF? According to Chris, the experience you gain is a great help in your career (生涯) . Besides, just like the explorers of the past, you need to keep an open mind and learn to mix well with the people you meet . Most importantly, at the end of each task, you have made a real difference to people's lives.

91 . When does MSF send trained doctors all over the world to help people?

92 . How many medical staff are taking part in MSF projects and tasks?

93. What kind of doctors are greatly needed in Africa?

94. According to Chris, why is his work important to other people?

95. What do you think of an MSF doctor's job? (自拟作答)

听第二段材料, 回答第 13--15 题。

It is reported that 300 hundred million people in China have eyesight trouble. Here are three ways to save eyes.

First, don't tie your shoes too closely. Try wearing comfortable and soft socks or walking without socks and shoes at home. While you are travelling, try wearing cloth shoes in order to improve blood circulation. Second, walking on tiptoe is good for one's eyesight. It can fight against eyesight trouble.

Third, rope skipping can also be good for one's eyesight. While skipping rope, one has to move quickly, making both the brain and the eyes excited. It may also help make one grow taller.

Besides foot exercise, it is good to pull one's ears. Pulling the ears 20 times quickly is also a great way. It can keep one's eyes healthy.

听第三段材料，回答 16—20 题。

It was quite late at night. I was reading a newspaper alone in my room when I heard someone knocking at the door. I opened it and saw a young man with glasses standing there. He said that he was a friend of my brother's and wanted to have a talk with him. I didn't know if my brother had such a friend, but I had to let him in.

As we talked, I found that he knew nothing about my brother. Then I came to know that his words were not true. Suddenly my brother rushed in and the young man was so surprised that he didn't know what to do for a moment. We caught the man and sent him to the police at the same time.

Helping Each Other Makes the World Wonderful

Hello, everyone . I'm Li Zhi . It's nice to speak about help here . In our life we often help others and also get help from others . When we help our classmates with their study and other things, we can develop our friendship . If we give a helping hand to old people, we can understand the meaning of pleasure . As we know, patients also need our help . We can take care of them when we are free on Sundays . Helping others can make us feel happy too.

I think we can get much when we help the people around us . It's meaningful for us to try our best to help others . If all of us can give a helping hand, the world will be better soon . As the saying goes, "Giving is much better than receiving."

Thank you for your listening.
