The house is made of wood, so it is light. And how can I make it fly? I plan to tie some helium (氦) balloons to the house. They bring the house up into the air. It can fly for one hour at a time. It takes us to a different place every season.

The house is not very big in size, but it is comfortable. We only need two bedrooms, a living room, a kitchen, a dining room and a modern bathroom. The room flies to warm places in winter and cool places in summer.

Where can we get energy and water? We get energy from the sun and we collect rainwater to use. So it's a green house.

I think it would be a cool home. But my parents say it is a crazy idea. They ask me what school I can study in if I live in that home. And they also say they must work in Shanghai. They can't live in a different place every month. This is a great idea, right?
